The names published in this commencement program include all students who earned a doctorate, educational specialist, master's or baccalaureate degree fall quarter 2015 or winter quarter 2016, and any student who applied for a degree for spring quarter 2016 or summer quarter 2016 by the posted deadline.

Participation in commencement and inclusion in the commencement program does not guarantee official granting of a degree. The Graduate Programs Office (doctorate, educational specialist, master's) and the Records and Registration Office (baccalaureate) verify completion of all coursework before a degree is conferred. The official document verifying degree completion is the official Eastern Washington University transcript.

A HISTORY OF EASTERN WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

In 1882, the Benjamin P. Cheney Academy opened its doors to more than 200 enrolling students. A generous contribution of $10,000 from a wealthy transportation industrialist had at last fulfilled the dreams of Cheney citizens for an institute of higher learning in their community.

The academy became the State Normal School at Cheney in 1889, the same year in which Washington was given its statehood. The school was proudly designated as an institution “for the purpose of instruction of persons, both male and female, in the art of teaching the various branches that pertain to a good common school.”

By the time it became Eastern Washington College of Education in 1937, Eastern was already a fully accredited four-year degree-granting institution, offering majors in numerous subjects.

The campus grew rapidly in size and program offerings in the decades following World War II. In 1961, the name was again changed, this time to Eastern Washington State College. It was increasingly evident that the region needed professionals in many fields; in response, a wide range of undergraduate and graduate degree programs were added. Finally, in 1977, the name was changed to Eastern Washington University by the state legislature.

As a regional university, Eastern is charged with the special responsibility of meeting the undergraduate and graduate educational needs of the region’s people.

To that end, program areas have grown and been redefined as the needs of the Inland Northwest have grown and changed. Master’s programs have been added to meet the need for graduate-level education, and individual programs and schools have increasingly been granted accreditation by their respective oversight organizations as those programs and schools have grown and matured.

Today, Eastern students represent nearly every state in the union and more than 40 foreign countries. More than 100 different academic majors are available, offering students a wide variety of career-path options.

Nearly 600 full-time and adjunct faculty teach on the Cheney campus and at several locations throughout the state. Three-quarters of Eastern’s full-time faculty members hold doctorate degrees. With a low student-to-faculty ratio, Eastern continues to stress small classes, personalized instruction and individual attention.

Perhaps even more significant than Eastern’s steady advancement during the past 133 years is the university’s expanded regional role and its evolving goals, objectives and vision of its future.

In the past decade, Eastern Washington University has become a major force in the state and the Pacific Northwest, not only in the education of more than 13,000 students each year, but in the civic, cultural, scientific and economic development of the state and region.

University Honors: Seniors who completed special course work requirements through the Honors Program-Purple Honors Cord.

UNIVERSITY MACE

The tradition of a ceremonial mace for academic institutions goes back to medieval times. Adapted in form from the ancient battle weapon used by knights, the ceremonial mace symbolized the authority of regal personages, city or shire ruling bodies and chief officers of chartered institutions.

Originally representing vested authority during all official meetings, it eventually came to be connected mainly with formal ceremonies. In academic institutions, this is usually in conjunction with an academic procession, where the mace is carried at the head of the line of march or just before the platform party.

The form of the ceremonial mace has remained fairly consistent over the centuries. Design often reflects the period of creation, especially in the elaboration of ornamentation. Gold, silver and dark wood are traditional materials.

Eastern's mace, commissioned as a gift during the centennial year to the university by former and present members of the EWU Board of Trustees, was created by artist-craftsman Clifford Gaynard after a region-wide design competition. Its polished silver head in flowing cuplike form carries the university seal. The dark rosewood shaft with upper and medial gold-plated bosses is gently curved into the terminal silver cap at the bottom.

Although the modern design departs from the traditional straight and elaborately ornamented pattern, it retains a full effect of balance, dignity and decorum, while capturing the flowing lines typical of the eastern Washington landscape.

A permanent display case for the Eastern Washington University mace is located in the Office of the President.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The regalia worn for formal academic ceremonies such as commencements are patterned after the gowns and hoods worn regularly in the Middle Ages by scholars for warmth in unheated buildings and as distinguishing dress denoting their place in society.

A great variety of designs and colors developed over the years in the costume worn in different universities, but since 1895 in the United States, a uniform intercollegiate code of style and colors has been adhered to by most institutions.

In accordance with this code, most academic gowns are black, although some universities permit other solid colors. Occasionally, the robe color may indicate a professional distinction, such as deep purple for law or scarlet for ecclesiastical honors. Adaptations of the academic costume for high schools have sometimes used colors other than black for purely decorative purposes. Sometimes a distinguishing device on the robe or cap indicates an individual honor or a special occasion.

The baccalaureate gown is of simple cut with full, somewhat pointed sleeves. The front is closed and often no hood is worn with this gown. The mortar board head covering originated in ancient Greece, symbolizing the commitment of the scholar to a life of building. It has either a plain black tassel or one of a color indicating the subject area of the degree. The custom of shifting the cap's tassel from right to left at the time of awarding the degree is used in lieu of investing each candidate with the bachelor's hood.

The master's gown is similar to the bachelor's gown, except that the sleeves are fuller, cut square with a half-circle at the bottom and sometimes worn with the arms through a horizontal slit at elbow level.

The doctoral robe is ampler in cut with a full bell-shaped sleeve, velvet panel edging in the front and three velvet stripes on each sleeve. The velvet trim may be black or in the color appropriate to the degree. The mortar board tassel for the doctorate is gold. Some American and many foreign universities use cap forms other than the mortar board, ranging from a soft velvet beret to more elaborate fringed styles, each of which has its own historical tradition.

Hoods worn over the gowns have a velvet edging, usually in a color indicating the specific degree and a lining which is partially turned out to show the colors of the college or university which granted the degree.

Some of the colors used for tassels and velvet panels to designate the degree are:

STUDENT COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

9 A.M. CEREMONY

Weiki Dessalgn

In 2006, Weiki Dessalgn immigrated to the United States from Ethiopia with her family in pursuit of better opportunities, and at the time, she spoke little English. Today, Dessalgn has earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from the College of Business and Public Administration with an emphasis in management information systems. As a business student, Dessalgn actively pursued her academic interests in information technology and application development, while balancing an impressive mix of extracurricular activities, including competitions within her business program, producing and building a growing online blog and networking site, traveling, volunteering for non-profit organizations, attending leadership conventions and interning with T-Mobile, Microsoft and Amazon. She is a recipient of the Business Professionals of America Scholarship and the Entrepreneurial Connection Scholarship. This fall, Dessalgn will begin a job with Amazon—a direct result of one of her internships. Dessalgn said she will always cherish her academic experiences at EWU and the relationships she has developed with faculty.

2 P.M. CEREMONY

Jennifer Guhl

Jennifer Guhl grew up on a family farm in Usk, Washington, where she learned the importance of hard work and perseverance. She attended school in nearby Newport, Washington, and graduated from Newport High School in 1992. Guhl is the mother of five children, and has earned a Bachelor of Science degree in dental hygiene from the College of Health Sciences and Public Health. Guhl's experience at EWU has provided her and her colleagues the opportunity to present their research on periodontitis and its association with Alzheimer's disease at state and national conferences. The research and their findings have also been published in Access Magazine. Guhl was selected by her fellow students as the president of their local Student American Dental Hygiene Association, which raises money for local charities, foundations and scholarships. Guhl is the recipient of the Public Health in Dentistry award, and was also voted "most inspirational" by her fellow classmates.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

Jess Walter

Jess Walter, Spokane native and Eastern Washington University graduate, is an award-winning author of eight books, most recently a collection of stories titled We Live in Water, which was long-listed for The Story Prize, the Frank O'Connor Short Story Award and winner of the Pacific Northwest Booksellers Award.

After graduating from EWU in 1987, Walter worked for The Spokesman-Review, and then pursued a career as a writer. His first book, Every Knee Shall Bow, was released in 1995 and was a finalist for the PEN USA literary nonfiction award in 1996.

In 2006, Walter was a finalist for the National Book Award for The Zero, and won the 2005 Edgar Allan Poe award for Citizen Vince. He's been a finalist for the LA Times Book Prize, and twice won the Pacific Northwest Booksellers Award.

Most notably, Walter wrote Beautiful Ruins in 2012, which became a No. 1 New York Times best-seller, New York Times Notable Book of 2012, Esquire's Book of the Year and NPR Fresh Air's Novel of the Year.

Walter's books have been published in 32 languages and his short fiction has appeared twice in Best American Short Stories, as well as Harpers, McSweeney's, Esquire and Tin House, among others.

Walter lives with his wife Anne and children, Brooklyn, Ava and Alec, in his childhood hometown of Spokane.

Jay Inslee

Gov. Jay Inslee was elected the 23rd governor of Washington state in November 2012. He is a fifth-generation Washingtonian who grew up in Seattle, and he graduated from the University of Washington with a degree in economics before earning his law degree at Willamette University School of Law. Inslee started his public service career as a state legislator in 1989 and later as a congressman, serving both the Yakima Valley and Puget Sound areas.

During his time in Congress, Inslee became known as a forward-thinking leader, especially on issues of clean energy and the environment. Inslee's top priority is growing Washington's innovative industries such as clean energy, IT and life sciences, and strengthening existing industries such as aerospace, agriculture, maritime and military.

During Inslee's time as governor, Washington state has made historic investments at every education level, including the largest-ever state investment in early learning—funding for all-day kindergarten and smaller class sizes in K-3. More than $3 billion in funding was allocated for K-12 basic education, first-in-the-nation tuition reductions for all college students and increased financial aid opportunities in higher education.

Inslee and his wife, Trudi, are proud grandparents to three active toddlers. Besides writing and illustrating books for his grandchildren and sketching scenes from around Washington, he is an avid cyclist and charter member of Hoopaholics, an organization that provides training and development in the basketball community.

FACULTY EMERITI RECOGNITION

Barbara Miller

Barbara Miller, PhD, has provided guidance for students in the Art Department for 44 years.

Miller earned her bachelor's degree, master's degree and PhD from the University of Missouri, and joined the Art Department at Eastern Washington University in 1972.

Along with teaching,

Miller has served in various roles throughout her time at EWU. She was the chair of the Art Department from 1984-92, the vice president and president of the faculty senate from 1991-93, and was given the Faculty Achievement Award in 1993. Miller was also the interim dean of the College of Fine Arts from 1993-94, the interim director of general education from 1994-95 and the chair of the Art Department from 2007-08. The Art Department has described Miller as a gifted and talented colleague who has brought passion to the art history classroom, serving as a commendable model for all who teach students.

Karen Noble

Karen Noble, PhD, is most widely recognized through her professional partnership with EWU Professor Emeritus James Edmonds, PhD; the vocal-piano duo presented annual recitals throughout the Inland Empire for 25 years. During her 43-year EWU career Noble sang with Tacoma Opera, Spokane Opera, Spokane Symphony, Spokane Chamber Orchestra and Spokane Civic Theatre—most notably as Aldonza in Civic's 1981 original production of Man of La Mancha.

At EWU, Noble appeared frequently as soloist with the EWU Symphony and sang roles in two full productions: Violetta in La Traviata and (three decades later and three octaves lower!) Madame Armfeldt in A Little Night Music. She has served as director of opera workshop, vocal area coordinator and professor of humanities. Her voice students have gone on to graduate work at such prestigious schools as Indiana University and the Manhattan School of Music. They have sung with Spokane Opera, Seattle Opera, Los Angeles Bel Canto Opera, and several professional musical theatre companies, and have taught music at schools throughout the Pacific Northwest.

Noble holds Master of Music and Doctor of Musical Arts degrees from the University of Washington; she graduated first in her class from both Gonzaga Law School (JD) and San Diego State University (BA). Her publications include articles in math journals, such as the Proceedings of the American Math Society and Contemporary Mathematics, as well as math textbooks, including Problems in Mathematical Analysis and Continued Fractions.

Toneva was the thesis supervisor for many mathematics graduate students, and those students are now math faculty at EWU, Gonzaga, SFCC, SCC and other community colleges.

Toneva has served on many university committees and has often represented the Mathematics Department as faculty senator. She is also a member of the Mathematical Association of America (MAA), American Mathematical Society (AMS) and Union of Bulgarian Mathematicians (UBM). She was active in the Pacific Northwest section of the MAA, serving on committees and as a judge of student competitions.

Toneva's participation and essential presence will be greatly missed by her colleagues.

Patrick Winters

Joining the Eastern Washington University faculty in 1987, Patrick Winters, MA, served as the director of bands, conducting multiple ensembles and teaching undergraduate and graduate courses in conducting and music education.

Winters earned his bachelor's degree in music education from Elon University, and then received his master's in music education from California State University.

Before coming to EWU, Winters taught in public schools in Virginia and California.

Throughout Winters' 28 years at EWU, he saw the band program grow to include marching band, two concert bands, three jazz ensembles, several jazz combos and Code Red, EWU's premiere pep band. These groups have developed a reputation for excellence, having toured throughout the Pacific Northwest, California, Nevada and western Canada. Winters contributed innovative ideas to EWU, including the summer band reading clinic, the Drum Major and Leadership Camp, the band invitational, the high school honor band weekend and the founding of Code Red. He also maintained an active schedule as a guest conductor, clinician and adjudicator, having appeared in 16 states and five foreign countries.

Winters served on dozens of department and university committees, including the EWU Foundation board of directors. He was awarded the Washington Music Educators Association's outstanding music educator award, the PTI Outstanding EWU faculty award and the dean's merit award several times. Winters has served as the Northwest Division President of the College Band Directors National Association, vice president of the WMEA, marching band liaison for WAIA and Washington State chair for the National Band Association. In 2000, Winters was inducted into the Washington Music Educators Association Hall of Fame. He also served as the Music Department chair from 2003-2012.

Winters retired in 2015, but continues to guest conduct and adjudicate. He is an avid radio control aircraft enthusiast, and plans to spend more time with Joyce, his wife of 40 years, his three children and his granddaughter.

TRUSTEES' MEDAL AWARD

The Trustees' Medal Award is the university's highest form of recognition for faculty achievement. Each year since 1978, the award has honored teaching excellence, significant contributions to scholarship and research, and accomplishments in the development of academic programs and curriculums. The award consists of a bronze medallion and a $1,500 cash prize from the EWU Foundation.

Donald C. Richter

Donald C. Richter, PhD, is a professor of mechanical engineering and mechanical engineering technology who is in his 18th year at Eastern Washington University. He has spent more than 20 years as an engineer in the industry, and then decided to give back to the profession by teaching. His industrial experience has enabled him to give a unique perspective and richness to his engineering courses.

Richter has developed several new courses at EWU, including a senior-level engineering course in heating and air conditioning design. Richter founded the EWU student section of the American Society of Heating, Refrigerating and Air Conditioning Engineers (ASHRAE). EWU engineering students have received scholarships from ASHRAE since the founding of the student section, and twice EWU engineering students have been chosen as the outstanding national senior of the year award from ASHRAE.

Richter also developed the industrial robotics and automation laboratory and courses at EWU, bringing a real world robotics and automation experience to engineering students. He has worked with local and national industrial partners to secure equipment donations for the robotics laboratory, which in the past three years totaled more than $450,000. These donations have allowed the students to gain experience with industrial robotic vision systems, preparing them for the global workplace as engineers.

In 2000, Richter introduced 3D parametric computer modeling to the university, receiving a $8.5 million software grant for 3D parametric modeling software. Richter also serves as the director of the Mine Safety and Health Program (MSHA), which trains miners in mine safety. He has received more than $630,000 in grants from the Department of Labor's MSHA state grants program in support of the mine safety and health program at EWU. In addition, he was a Co-PI for a $212,000 Society of Manufacturing Engineers grant in support of the department's labs. Richter has also authored or co-authored more than 24 peer-reviewed papers in conference proceedings for the American Society of Engineering Education and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Not only has Richter been active in the EWU community, but he has also served the greater community. Richter has acted as a judge for the Science Olympiad at the state and regional level, a judge for First Lego League, a robotic inspector for First Robotics, and volunteer for the regional SeaPerch remotely-operated underwater vehicle (ROV) competition for middle and grade school students, sponsored in part by the U.S. Navy.

Richter's previous awards include the CenturyTel Foundation Faculty Achievement Award for Outstanding Faculty Member of his college in 2001, being selected as an American Society of Civil Engineers EXCEED program fellowship in 2003, and he was awarded the American Society of Engineering Education's best paper at the 2005 Annual Conference for the PIC II division. Richter is a registered professional engineer in mechanical engineering in Arkansas, Arizona and Louisiana. He also is a registered environmental engineer in Louisiana.

Richter has served as the department chair of the Department of Engineering and Technology, and also served as the program director for the mechanical engineering and mechanical engineering technology programs. Richter says his favorite part about his job is teaching tomorrow's engineers and interacting with the students in the laboratory. His enthusiasm shows in both his teaching evaluations and comments from his students. Richter feels that teaching is an honor, and is continuously amazed by what students can accomplish if we empower them to innovate.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARDS

The Distinguished Service Awards are given each year to recognize exemplary service and outstanding contributions to the university. Letters of nomination and support are reviewed by the University Medals and Awards Committee.

Christi Wavada
Classified Staff

Christi Wavada was hired for a 10-month appointment as program assistant of the Women's and Gender Studies Program in 2005; a decade later, she's still contributing to the success of that program. In June 2015, she was reclassified as program coordinator.

In this role, Wavada supports the Women's and Gender Studies academic program, the Women's Studies Center and the Helping Ourselves Means Education (HOME) program.

In her nomination letter, Sally Winkle, director of Women's and Gender Studies, wrote, "Christi truly cares about our programs and our students and it shows in everything she does. She makes it more fun to come to work every day because I know that her critical support, creative ideas and dedication will inspire us all to do everything we need to do for the program."

Wavada's organizational skills are apparent in her support of the HOME program, which is dedicated to assisting low-income student parents by providing information, networking opportunities, a holiday gift giving tree, a spring tea, and activities for parents and their children.

HOME's annual Giving Tree assists EWU students in providing gifts for their children during the holiday season. Lynn Burks-Herres, in the Department of Psychology, wrote, "Christi has organized this program by making certain that each tag is fulfilled. If not, she goes out on her own time and purchases the remainder of the gifts needed in order to answer a child's wish for Christmas."

When it comes to HOME's annual spring tea, Wavada's creative side is on display as she develops entertaining themes to engage attendees. "She has the vision and the resourcefulness for the ambiance of this very important fundraiser that makes an impression on various campus departments and people from both the Spokane and Cheney communities," wrote Carol Vines, former manager of the Women's Studies Center.

These events are in addition to her daily duties that include the coordination of complex cross-listed course schedules, budget management and assisting staff, faculty and students.

Professor Beth Torgerson summed it up this way, "I have worked with her on issues related to syllabi, curriculum, committees, conferences, fundraising, awards and other ceremonies. I find her intelligent, enthusiastic, dedicated, hardworking and reliable. To put it bluntly—we all depend on her—students, staff, faculty and affiliated faculty."

The award includes the Distinguished Service Award medallion and a check for $1,000. These awards were presented at the University Family Thanksgiving luncheon in November 2015.

Rose Knight
Administrative Exempt

EWU Libraries' mission is to stimulate and support intellectual inquiry. Rose Knight has been instrumental in helping to advance this mission in her role as manager of Budget and Administrative Services for EWU Libraries. She has served in this position since 2004.

When people think of EWU Libraries, a couple things immediately come to mind—the implementation of the EWU Digital Commons in 2014 and the Learning Commons in 2011. Knight assumed leadership roles in each of these two important initiatives that benefit EWU students and the university as a whole.

Suzanne Milton, dean of Libraries, in nominating Knight for this award said that the success of the Learning Commons was, in great measure, a result of the role Knight took in facilitating the coordination of all the EWU and non-EWU constituents involved. "Coordination of a project of this scale requires a level of detail and understanding that exceeded the scope of her regular duties, and Rose Knight deservedly has earned the distinction of grace under fire. The success of the Learning Commons is evident, and Rose ensured that all the support services groups, who were moving to the Learning Commons, were involved and able to provide input into the process."

Vice Provost Colin Ormsby wrote in support of Knight's nomination: "In my more than 20 years of experience in higher education, I can truly say I have met few people with Ms. Knight's combination of organization skills, eye for detail, human empathy and incredible ability to build consensus." In working with her on the Learning Commons project, Ormsby said, "I relied heavily on Rose to organize working groups and keep momentum for the project going. Ms. Knight saw both potential problems as well as potential opportunities, and worked with constituent planning committee members to mitigate the former and take advantage of the latter."

As for the EWU Digital Commons, associate professor Justin Otto wrote that Knight once again took a leadership role as she drafted the complicated Request for Proposal (RFP) for the hosted digital commons system for EWU. "She took specifications from the library faculty and from OIT and crafted them into a very good document. This was no small task. She did a fantastic job, which moved the whole process forward in a timely manner. Knight's contributions to these initiatives have paid dividends that extend beyond JFK Library."

2015-2016 FRANCES B. HUSTON MEDALLION AWARDS

The Frances B. Huston Medallion Award was established in 1998 by a gift from Mary Ann Nelson, professor of English emerita, as a tribute to Professor of English Frances B. Huston's lifelong commitment to education and a generosity to students that was quiet but ongoing. The medallion award program recognizes outstanding graduates and reflects Huston's compassion and respect for what education can do for an individual and a community.

The recipients of this award will have established themselves as exceptionally capable individuals in both academic and extracurricular activities. The faculty and administration of Eastern Washington University acknowledge their great pride in the accomplishments of these students during their college experience and expect even greater accomplishments in the years that lie ahead.
